

Jews Sweeping the Pavement

March 1938 in Vienna: Jewish men and women were forced to clean the pavements.

Foto: unbekannt. (DÖW)

Roll-Call at Mauthausen Concentration Camp

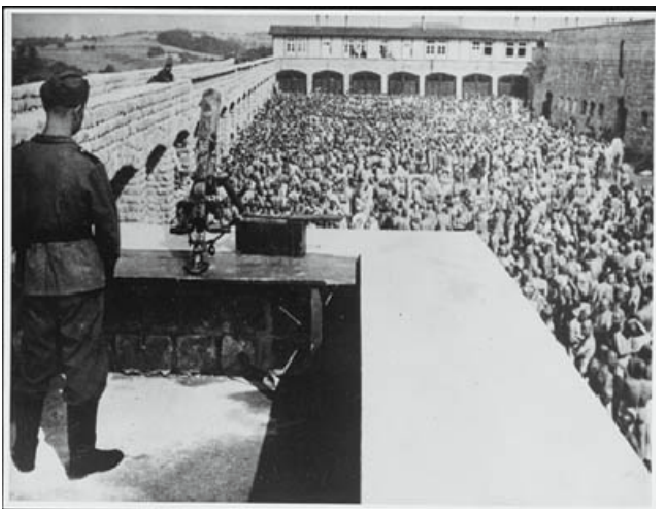

Foto: unbekannt. (DHM)

Three Concentration Camp Prisoners

On 1 April 1938, many Austrians who had played an active part in politics were deported to Dachau concentration camp. Among them were Leopold Figl and Alfons Gorbach, who were both to become chancellor of the Republic of Austria after 1945. From right to left: Alfons Gorbach, Karl Maria Stepan (head of the Steiermark provincial government until 1938) and Colonel Franz Zelburg during roll-call in Dachau.

(DÖW)